

The Court Of Two Sisters

By Angela Ash

If you are caught dead anywhere else for brunch, then just pack up your bags and go home. The Court Of Two Sisters is definitely the place to be for brunch... and not just on Sunday!

You may choose to dine inside, or out... in the fabulous courtyard. And the buffet is endless... or about as endless as two plates can contain. There are so many choices that this is definitely a two plate buffet. You know what I'm talking about... where you fill up two plates at one time and pretend like one is for someone else. You know you've done it! There is always a fresh array of various fruit, an omelet or eggs station, and everything from carved turkey breast to jambalaya.

And the ambiance is just not able to be compared. The sweet sound of live jazz flows throughout the courtyard, as you attempt ever so earnestly to eat every bite on your plate. (Ssssh... plates).

And while the Court of Two Sisters is best known for their Jazz Brunch

Buffet every day, the dinner is superb. It truly calls to eat here twice!
