

The Eye Of Napoleon

By Angela Ash

The Frazier History Museum, a premier facility in Louisville, Kentucky, boasting over 1,000 years of historical exhibits, is currently hosting one of the most exciting, unique traveling displays of its kind!

The Eye of Napoleon is a peak into the complex life of Napoleon Bonaparte, seen completely through over 200 works of paintings, sculpture, jewels, books, furniture, and even vintage clothing. These artifacts are literally jaw dropping, and one can be easily drawn into the world that he lived in, and the possessions that he loved.

There are also specially themed interpretations offered during this exhibit, with costumed performers offering even more insight into Napoleon's personal circle, including the woman by his side.

At the end of your journey, a special photo opportunity is even offered. Ever wondered if you would make a good Napoleon or Josephine? This is your chance to find out!

Also, be a part of Date Night In Paris. This is an unforgettable experience, held on select Saturday evenings.

For more information on this exhibit, you may visit online, or call the Frazier History Museum at (502) 753-5663.