

The Rainforest Cafe

By Angela Ash

While Walt Disney World is one of my favorite places on the planet, sometimes a long day at the park can take its toll. You begin to fantasize about air conditioning, and actually sitting down for longer than the teacups spin. However, it is truly difficult to pull yourself away from the magic, even for one minute. And with wonders like the Rainforest Cafe, you won't have to make the sacrifice!

Located at the entrance to the Animal Kingdom park, a long break from the thrills is not required. In fact, excitement is roaring and swinging from every corner... quite literally. Hence the name, be prepared to walk into an active rainforest, where elephants, monkeys, and snakes rage to life, and storms fill the skies.

With an extensive menu, the only question is what to order first? Prepare to feast on starters like an assortment of salads with a twist, cheesesticks, lava nachos for two (or three), onion stacks, buffalo wings, and quesadillas.

And when you are really ready to dig in, burgers like the Rainforest and the Canopy beg to be devoured. The entree selection is nothing short of amazing, with delicious dishes like the Portofino Shrimp Pasta, Paradise Pot Roast, Chicken Fried Chicken, Mojo Bones, and the Big Easy Chops.

The portions are HUGE, but trust me, you will want to save room for the Sparkling Volcano, Rainforest Cafe's version of a brownie sundae, piled high with ice cream, whipped topping, and chocolate and caramel sauces.

When visiting the Animal Kingdom, be sure to set aside a very important part of your day to have quite possibly one of the best meals of your life! Serving up breakfast, lunch, and dinner, this must definitely go on your "Disney To Do List"!
