Everyone has been to New York City and ate a hot dog in Central Park or grabbed a slice from one of numerous street vendors on every corner. But on your next visit to the Big Apple, how about dining at a locale that is every bit as big and inviting as the city in which it is located?

Planet Hollywood not only offers a delectable menu, with items ranging from perfectly grilled steaks and heaping platters of pasta to one of the best burgers you'll have in your life, but expect to see plenty of movie memorabilia and experience an in-house DJ, playing your favorite tunes.

If you want to dine in a way that is every bit as symbolic of such a vibrant city as its visitors, be sure to have a meal at Planet Hollywood!
